

I do not think there should be any revisions made concerning the laws limiting ownership and cross-ownership of media outlets. A single company's domination of major aspects of the mass media completely contradicts our democratic foundation. This domination ultimately restricts diversity of opinions and ideas sent out to the American public. The media needs to deliver diverse ideas in order to maintain a healthy democracy.